THE MANAGER
COMPANY ANNOUNCEMENTS OFFICE
ASX LIMITED

Dear Sir

Xigital is now a certified Salesforce.com 'Consulting Partner'

m2m Corporation Limited ("the Company" or "the m2m group") [ASX code: "MCL"] is pleased to announce that Xigital (the m2m group's software development business based in Shenzhen, Southern China) has been certified by US software manufacturer Salesforce.com, as its 'Consulting Partner' in Southern China.

Salesforce.com is the leader and largest on-demand Customer Relationship Management (CRM) service supplier in the world, supplying products and services to Fortune 500 and multinational companies.

Roger Fan, GM Business Development for Xigital said "We are excited about this certification as Xigital is so far the only Certified Consulting Partner of Salesforce.com in Southern China. This opens Xigital to business opportunities both reselling Salesforce.com application services, consulting and providing customization and development work to the established customer base of existing multinational users in Southern China".

Over the next twelve to eighteen months, Xigital expects considerable growth in revenue directly from this relationship and through increased exposure of its existing technical capabilities.

Xigital is a fully diversified software and development house with experienced and creative programmers and developers. Their collective experiences includes games platforms, IT outsourcing for overseas companies (including USA based companies), web based systems, VoIP applications including Apple iPhone Apps and customer support portals.
